

What would happen if you just went with the wind, with a strong faith in yourself that you could make a difference in the world?

Everything started with a question that I proposed in January of 2018 after just finishing my first album. In a prayer I asked "How can I best serve today?"

My answer came to me in a meditation...

From my heart I received:

I could merge my passions of playing music and painting murals on a tour.

...As long as I let go of all fear, and trusted that everything was divinely aligned for me to a T already.

This is the tour flyer I distributed ahead of time informing others of my mission in hopes to raise funds for on the GoFundMe platform.

Music & Murals Tour 2018

A Heart Guided Journey to Inspire

As of the summer of 2018 I embarked on a intuition guided tour to debut my newest album:

“Acoustic Spirit: Sound, Light & Love” across America with the intention to merge my passions of playing music and painting murals .

Intentions put out beforehand

To spread love and light all over the world in beautiful, creative and fulfilling ways.

To be supported every step of the way, and to be brought to those in need of my unique skill set.

These were the main driving forces behind the perfect alignment I came across each step of the way.
As long as I stayed out of fear, and in full trust that I wouldn't have been given this inspiration if it wasn't going to come true. This was my first test of putting the Laws of Attraction to the test.

Murals, Miracles and Mother Earth

September 26, 2018 | Jordan Serpentine

As I painted the Ruby Lake mural, I was driving about 40 minutes weekly to go to this wonderfully conscious food store called Mother Earth Foods! The whole reason I was brought to Parkersburg was a place called Unity Cafe initially. Run by a fiery and wonderful soul...

6th mural Tenk Multi purpose space Cleveland OH

The beginning of my tour had gotten delayed one week due to the funeral of my grandpa. At this wake, I met this man who owned a large piece of property in Downtown Cleveland. He said when you get back from you tour, begin my mural. Little did I know each mural on the tour prepared me for this massive 3 story undertaking. Where I operated a boom lift on my own for two months to complete it. It is called Divine blessings, illustrating mother earth being the key to us finding our peace and truth.

Music and Murals Tour brings artist to town

JORDAN SERPENTINI, musician, muralist, pro-skate boarder and Reiki healer was drawn to Clayton on her Music and Murals Tour. She connected with local business Mock's Crossroads Coffee Mill owner Jennifer Mock and was commissioned to paint the lovely area-themed Welcome mural on the side of the business property as you come into town from Springers on US 16.

Multi-talented young woman visits Clayton

On Friday, August 3, 2018, if you were coming into Clayton on Monroe Street, as you crossed the railroad tracks you might have seen a blue tarp on the ground with baskets and paint cans. A young woman was busy painting a mural of Clayton on the side of the old mill.

Twenty-four-year-old Jordan Serpentina is touring the country, wherever her spirit leads her and wherever she can find someone who would like a mural painted on their wall.

She stopped in Clayton visited Mock's Crossroads Coffee Mill to get something to drink. After talking with them, she was invited to paint a mural of Clayton on the old mill. It will take two days to complete the painting, a second trailer will be needed.

Trailer will be needed.

Jordan says she has been invited to paint another mural on a wall somewhere else in Clayton by the MainStreet people. This multi-talented young woman got her start painting murals in Florence, Italy, and on the island of Oahu, Hawaii. She attended college in Oahu.

Her summer of touring the United States will end in September. Jordan says she had an inspiration to spread her music album and to paint walls.

She sings and plays a variety of musical instruments, guitar, drums, harp, and trumpet. Thursday night, she played at the open mic in the Hotel Klondike.

That is not all Jordan does. She took up skateboarding, joined a group in Florence, Italy, and has her skateboards custom-made there. She has competed internationally. While skateboarding at Serpent Mound in Serpent Mound, Ohio, she painted murals on a spiritual center and on one of the skate-board sites.

Along her way, Jordan learned Reiki messages and healing therapy. She performs it and teaches it.

Before her tour of the country ends, she has been asked to paint a three-story mural in Akron, Ohio. Her next stop from here is in Oklahoma.

Jordan is a very outgoing, upbeat, spiritual woman. She trusts that her spirit will take her to where she needs to go and will make sure her needs are met. If you see her, she will be happy to talk with you.

You can learn more about Jordan and see photos of some of her murals at Jordanserpentina.com or look for her on Facebook.

Thank you for supporting artists to follow their dreams

With much gratitude, I know that this format is not the preferred format for a work sample, but something like this doesn't exist yet, and I knew it would have to be all inclusive in order for this project to be best received.

I appreciate all of your time and energy immensely.
